School improvement Plan / DEIS Action Planning for improving nomework
	September 2013 – May 2016
Summary of Main Strengths	 There are a number of systems and procedures already in place to promote good practice in relation to homework. In particular the Homework Journal provides opportunities for ensuring homework is done fully. A Homework policy is already in place which, if fully implemented, should bring about an improvement in Homework completion rates and attainment rates. The Pastoral Care class has traditionally been used by Class Teachers to focus on the importance of homework reinforcing the emphasis placed on homework in the school.
Summary of areas prioritised for improvement	 Teachers to ensure that Homework Policy is consistently and fully implemented. Teachers to ensure that Homework Journal is used properly by students on a daily basis. Students to write all homework in the journals and ensure that there is an entry for every subject each day. Students to complete all types of homework each. Improve the quality of the homework being presented for correction. Improve the quality of monitoring and reporting of homework completed. Parents to play a more proactive role in improving homework practice with their children.
Actions to support implementation of School Improvement Plan	 Review and implement the Homework policy consistently. Revise the Homework Journal to ensure it is fit for purpose and to place new emphasis on homework. Draw up a Homework Practice PowerPoint for students. Proactively engage parents in improving Homework Practice. Draw up Guidelines for teachers in relation to Homework. Regular monitoring of Homework Journals and homework by Class Teachers and Subject Teachers to embed good practice by students and teachers. Prioritise funding for a Homework Club.
